What is Artrozamin Flex?

Artrozamin Flex is a unique combination of: Collagen type II - an essential building block required to maintain the cohesion of the cartilaginous matrix (50% of the solid part of the joint cartilage is constituted by type II collagen fibres). The 12% chondroitin sulfate and 1-2% hyaluronic acid contribute to the permanent renewal of proteoglycans, a major biochemical component of joints. The components are derived naturally and hydrolyzed to form of micromolecules. Due to the low molecular weight of collagen type II, Artrozamin Flex is highly bioavailable, easily digestible, absorbed and distributed in the human body. Artrozamin Flex is a dietary supplement working naturally within the body as a food source that is bioavailable, meaning it is a ready source of nutrition. Artrozamin Flex promotes healthy joint cartilage and repairs the damage that causes the pain and swelling associated with arthritis diseases.

Indications:

- Improve joint flexibility and mobility
